Kindra Hall's Profile

Travels from: Phoenix, AZ

Kindra Hall is an author, speaker, storytelling advisor and a master of the personal story. A 2014 Storytelling World Award Recipient, she served on the Board of Directors for the National Storytelling Network and recently released her first book, “Otherwise Untold: A Collection of Stories Most People Would Keep to Themselves.” She has performed on the largest storytelling stage in the world at the National Storytelling Festival in Jonesborough, Tennessee and across the country for audiences as large as 15,000.

Now, recognizing the need for carefully crafted, well-told stories in business and professional branding, Kindra has blended her traditional training with the modern demand for effective telling. She is the personal story coach and advisor to high-profile speakers, executives and business owners including Darren Hardy, the publisher and founding editor of SUCCESS Magazine. She works with these individuals and businesses to help them find, craft and tell their personal stories in order to increase message resonance, to move and persuade their audiences and subsequently, increase revenue and reach.

Target Audience: Business Owners;
Entrepreneurs and Non-Profits Executives

Description: There is one thing that separates the good from the best when it comes to effective communication and message resonance and that one thing is story. Whether it is in a sales setting, a motivational setting, or an informational setting, a story will make whatever it is you have to say, better. There is no denying it; whoever tells the best story, wins – which means, if you’re not telling your story, you’re losing. Fortunately, we all have stories that could move marketing mountains – unfortunately, those stories aren’t being told enough.

Key Lessons:

- Why story is the secret weapon to massively increase the effectiveness of your communication.
- What a story is NOT! so you are not fooled.
- The biggest storytelling myths that are keeping you from reaching your full potential.
- Where to find your client-convincing, boardroom-persuading, earth-shattering story – yes, you have one!
- How to put your story to work so it’s better than the best pr/marketing employee you’ve ever hired.

Outcome: Audience members will leave not only believing in the power of storytelling but in their ability to DO it. Listeners will be eager to get to work – barely able to keep their own stories to themselves until after the presentation is complete. Most importantly, listeners will leave with rarely known storytelling strategies that they can apply immediately and see instant results. At the end, there will be no question: each of them is just one story from greatness.
