

Empowering and Motivating You to Succeed!

David W. Webster's Profile

Travels from Virginia, USA

Emmy Award winner and VHTA "Rising Pineapple Award" winner, David Wayne Webster is the founder of The Institute of Business Conversation Tactics and author of "How to change someone's mind." His thirty-year study of person-to-person communication patterns has allowed him to recognize what we must do in order to positively guide another person's energy and thoughts in conversation.

From owner to upper management, supervisor to staff or staff to clients, David Webster can teach the steps of "Positive Persuasion" to anyone who is willing to listen to his very powerful and entertaining speeches or take his hilariously fun communication workshops. He can improve the behavior patterns of an entire staff. The glue that holds a team together is the feeling between them and no one can show you, like Mr. Webster can, that this is a manageable element of business. His participatory workshops keep everyone on their feet and moving for the entire class, roars of laughter heard throughout.

Also available to perform at functions is his corporate comedy group.

Emotional Regulation

"To be in the way of making other people's lives better is the highest state we can achieve," said a yogi to me once.

What we think about in the morning becomes how we feel.

How we feel becomes how we act.

How we act is how other people view us.

If we control what we think about each morning, we control our reputation.

Enlighten your staff to a new age at work where healing negative people is simple and rewarding for those who know exactly how to do it.

Here we take a look at the mistakes and discoveries that lead us to a better way of relating to each other in business and in life.
